Ebbtide.

On a summer eve, when the sun was low,
An old man sat in the golden glow;
The waves were washing the sandy shore,
And calm and sweet were their languid tones;
He looked, and listened, and softly sighed,
As he heard the voice of the ebbing tide.

He had passed his threescore years and ten,
He had smiled and wept like other men;
Brother and parent, friend and wife,
Had drifted over the scene of life,
The peaceful shore where the saints abide,
But he was left by the ebbing tide.

Left—all alone with the dreary past;
A battered hull on the shingle cast;
No more to ride the seething main,
Nor feel the shock of the storm again;
He lay at peace by the ocean side,
To wait the coming of death's great tide.

That solemn tide, with its voiceless roll,
Shall bear on its waves the weary soul,
To the blessed land where the angels throng;
Will hail its coming with holy song,
And the home of the faithful heart shall be
A place of rest by the crystal sea!

Donation Day.

To-day is Donation Day at the Home for Needy Confederate Women, where the reception hours are from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Gifts of all kind will be appreciated in the linen room and pantry. Officers of the board will be at the Home.

Miss Branch's Hunt Dinner.

Miss Effie Branch has sent out invitations for a hunt dinner to be given Saturday, January 28th. ## The Sword of Robert Lee

By FATHER RYAN.

The autograph, biographical sketch and portrait of Father Ryan have been printed in this series.

FORTH from its scabbard, pure and bright,
Flashed the sword of Lee!
Far in the front of the deadly fight,
High o'er the brave, in the cause of right,
Its stainless sheen, like a beacon-light,
Led us to victory

Out of its scabbard, where full long—
It slumbered peacefully—

Roused from its rest by the battle-sons,
Shielding the feeble, smiting the strong,
Guarding the right, and avenging the wrong—
Gleamed that sword of Lee!

Out of its scabbard, high in air,
Beneath Virginia's sky—

And they who saw it gleaming there,
And knew who bore it, knelt to swear,
That where the sword led they would dare
To follow and to die.

Out of its scabbard! Never hand
Waved sword from stain as free,
Nor purer sword led braver band,
Nor braver blade for a brighter land,
Nor brighter land had a cause as grand,
Nor cause, a chief like Lee!

Forth from its scabbard! how we prayed
That sword might victor be!

And when our triumph was delayed,
And many a heart grew sore afraid,
We still hoped on, while gleamed the blade
Of noble Robert Lee!

Forth from its scabbard! all in vain!
Forth flashed the sword of Lee!
'Tis shrouded now in its sheath again,
It sleep the sleep of our noble slain,
Defeated, yet without a stain,
Proudly and peacefully.

LEE AT LEXINGTON.

By JOHN WILBER JENKINS.

(Written for The Times-Dispatch.)

CALM-EYED, serene,
The swordless General stood,
Inspiring youth to noble thoughts and deeds,
Planting the pregnant seeds
Which in the peaceful time to come
Would burst into the fragrant bloom
Of a new nation, bound in brotherhood;
Remembering all the brave
Who climbed the heights of flame,
Or plunged the depths of hell
At his command;
Surveying all the hopes and fears
That crowded the disturbing years—
The star-crossed flag
That wreathed in glory, fell—
The valorous armies, torn by shot and shell—
An empire's embers, smoking in its ruins,
Proud of the very ashes of its past—
He knew his Cause was dead,
But buried in a million loyal hearts,
Duty had led him through Life's tortuous ways,
His great soul did not know defeat,
Nor mourn the unreturning days.
The Valley of the Shadow
Unfaltering he trod—
As one who faces Heaven unafraid
And does not fear the judgment of his God.

WORK TOGETHER FOR RICHMOND

C. Freeman, L. C. Younger, W. G. Long, M. A. Chambers, Hamilton Field, Edgar D. Taylor, J. E. Fowler, John Landstreet, J. E. Sore.

Committee on Co-ordination of Various Public Service Departments—Messrs. I. T. Christian, James Caskey, W. R. Meredith.

Committee on Value of Chamber of Commerce and Traffic Bureau and on Amount of Annual Dues, and to Devise a Plan for Raising $1,000 for Operations of Chamber, including Traffic Bureau, say $500 for the Chamber and $500 for the Bureau—Messrs. John B. Purcell, James N. Boyd, C. J. Sands, T. C. Williams, J. C. Freeman, Robert Lee Traynor, W. T. Reed, Judge George L. Christian, H. L. Cabell, James R. Gordon, E. A. Saunders, Jr., H. W. Wood, R. G. Rennolds.

Yet Other Committees.

There will be additional select committees appointed to take up certain other recommendations made at the annual meeting as well as the standing committees of the Chamber, which have not, as yet, been announced.

In furtherance of the work of the Chamber's select committee on the question of extending the corporate limits of Richmond, Mr. J. C. Freeman offered a preamble and resolution, which, after some slight amendments, read as follows:

Whereas, the corporate limits of Richmond, with the exception of Lee District, destined to be a fashionable section of the city, have not been extended since February 13, 1867, when its population was less than 10,000; and

Whereas, it is confidently believed this failure to more frequently extend our limits has prevented the city from growing as rapidly as it otherwise would have done, and has resulted in its being too thickly settled, and in inability to direct and control the system of street extension, building, sanitary and other important features of urban development, along lines most conducive to the welfare and best interests of the community; and

Whereas, this Chamber has, in season and out of season, persistently and earnestly advocated an expansion of the city limits until the adoption by the recent Constitutional Convention of Section 120 of the Constitution, insinuating any special act, but providing that a general law should be enacted by the General Assembly governing the extension of the limits of cities and towns in this State, a most difficult task in consequence of the many varying conditions and conflicting interests which had to be dealt with, but which was finally accomplished by the passage of the Act of Assembly of 1903;

Whereas, this Chamber, at much expense and with the greatest amount of labor on the part of its officers and board, and especially of its select committee, supplemented the efforts of the delegation from Richmond in securing this much needed legislation; and

Whereas, the honorable Council of the city of Richmond has now under consideration the extension of the corporate limits of the city, in accordance with the provisions of the Anderson bill, and this Chamber feels the profoundest interest in the proper solution of this problem, as especially evinced by the work of its select committee having charge of the matter; now, therefore, be it

Regarding Annexation.

Resolved, First, With the object of supporting the action of the City Council in its present purpose of extending the corporate limits of Richmond, it is hereby most earnestly requested, in the delineation of the territory which it will propose in its ordinance to have annexed, to embrace all such outlying districts as may be conducive to the natural, symmetrical, untrammeled growth and development of Richmond, and as are required to supply the need for cheap and healthy homes and manufacturing sites, with city conveniences and advantages, and to give it proper police, fire and sanitary jurisdiction, so much needed on our present environments.

Resolved, Second, That a general meeting of the Chamber be held at some date in the near future, for which speakers shall be selected and to which members of both branches of the City Council and citizens of Richmond generally be invited, and the object of such meeting being to give expression to the views of our business men upon this matter of paramount importance, that after the set speeches are delivered, the question shall be open to general debate.

The resolutions and the question of our city limits to which they refer were earnestly discussed by Messrs. Freeman, Purcell, Leake, Hutzler and L. T. Christian, and finally adopted in the form given above.

Upon motion of Messrs. Hutzler and Freeman, the president was requested, after conference with the special committee on the extension of the corporate limits of Richmond, to fix a date for the meeting and select speakers for the occasion.

Under a suspension of the rules relating to called meetings, Messrs. Hobson and Company, brokers, and Mr. J. C. Smith, city sergeant, proposed by President Leigh, and The Adams Grain and Provision Company, wholesale grain and provisions, proposed by the Committee on Membership, were elected members of the Chamber.

Adjournment followed.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Richmond Man Arrested for Worrying His Wife in Manchester.

FINE BASE-BALL OUTLOOK

Funeral of Mrs. Sipe—Bail Granted in Alleged Abduction Case.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

Dave Blankinship, of Richmond, is under arrest in Manchester on the charge of attempting to assault his wife while in a state of intoxication. Blankinship and his wife have not lived together for some time. She left him and came to Manchester, where she has worked to support herself and two small children.

She said that her husband got drunk last night and came to Manchester and attempted to take a small sum of money, all she had, from her. She further said that he chased her along the street, for some distance, and tried to throw her into the station house and swore out a warrant for his arrest.

He was in no condition to explain himself, but will be heard from by Mayor Maurice this morning.

Fine Ball Team.

The manager of the Manchester team of the Twin-City League and a number of the players held a conference at the Manchester Club last night, and the outlook for the season was discussed. Everything pointed to the most successful season ever seen in Richmond. The players were enthusiastic, and each one said he expected to "play the game of his life" this season.

Shelton, the fast catcher of the team, promised to do great things with the bat and on the bases, and Bowers, the twirler, who was with the Browns last season, says he expects to lead the league.

Moore, Clements, Hallinan and Hogan will make a fine show, they say, and it looks like a winner for Manchester.

Another meeting will be held at the same place at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Death of Mrs. Sipe.

The remains of Mrs. Mary C. Sipe will be sent to Fort Plain, New York, to-night. Maxwell Lyons, Louis Heath, Curtis Gibbs, Roy Inge, Luther Turney, Damon Trevillian, Ruth Gough, Halle Inge, Edna Cobb, Allen Hobbs, Marguerite Quarles, Cassie Turney.

Men Were Bailed.

Judge Cleeton yesterday afternoon granted bail to W. J. Dobbins, Gus Cole and Alex. Marshall, charged with the abduction of Beale Jones. The accused were released on $500 bonds for their appearance in court on January 27th.

The girl admitted yesterday to the Commonwealth's attorney, that she had committed perjury in swearing against the men, and it is quite likely that when the case is called the charge will be more prosaically.

Cole married the girl in North Carolina on Monday.

Veterans to Celebrate.

Judge Cleeton will be chosen commander of Joe Johnston Camp at the meeting to-night. After the business session a supper will be enjoyed at Odd-Fellows' Hall, the occasion being the celebration of Lee's birthday.

Officers Elected.

Stuart Lodge of Odd-Fellows have new the following officers, as installed by Acting District Deputy Howard Payne: E. H. Nebbett, past grand; C. S. Sutton, grand; E. P. Smith, vice grand; G. W. Blankinship, secretary; W. E. Adams, treasurer; G. A. Brunning, conductor; H. A. Jordan, warder. The other officers were: W. E. Smith, J. E. Andrews, B. L. Paul, E. H. Carter, G. W. Payne, J. C. Saunders, A. R. Cass and L. R. Brown.

Personals and Briefs.

The Bluebell Pleasure Club gave a masquerade party at the home of Miss Evelyn Sampson on Monday night.

Magnolia Circle, U. A. O. D., will visit Mistletoe Circle to-night, when the installation of officers will take place.

Messrs. T. H. Smith and W. R. Dentle will attend a meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee in Lynchburg on Saturday.

BOY AND REVOLVER.

Judge Pritchard's Son Shoots Young Fielding Lewis.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Jan. 18.—McKinley Pritchard, the young son of Judge Jeter C. Pritchard, of Washington, the former senator, created considerable excitement at the Shenandoah Valley Academy, where he is a pupil, one night recently by indiscreetly firing a revolver at his room mate, Fielding Lewis, son of the late Daniel Fielding Lewis, of Clarke county. Young Pritchard in some manner secured possession of a .38-caliber revolver, and entering the room after young Lewis had retired to bed, fired at the boy in jest, but one of the bullets passed over the frightened youth's breast, narrowly missing lodging in his body. Both boys are about twelve years of age.
